ART IN DESIGN

Chicago's Maxine Snider is synonymous with sophisticated design. Principal and Director of Design Bridgette Buckley brings her refined take to the boutique brand (with Snider as mentor and sage) introducing sophisticated pieces like the debonair Ring drink table—a chic character available with a walnut or marble top and range of finishes. The Oasis collection from Rocky Mountain Hardware, designed with the legendary firm RAMSA (Robert A.M. Stern Architects), presents graceful, organic forms with a sculptural appeal for doors and cabinetry that loosen the reins without fully stepping away from the classics. Worth the double take are the Ophelia cabinet pulls in Silicon Bronze Dark Lustre and Light, and the Kennet cabinet knob. rockymountainhardware.com

Grant Trick is a Southern creative who started his career in fashion and honed his craft in custom upholstery and soft furnishings to become an in-demand workroom/designer's-best-friend. Trick reveals his tailored ethos in a new collection, featuring standouts like the Brighton Banquette. granttrickcollection.com
